Dear Peter

Re: Attempted break-in at our Hook Depot

You will recall recently installing internally 5 No. CD38 High Security shutters to the windows and door at our storage department at Hook.

Last weekend we were once again the victims of a determined attack, although this time, I am pleased to say, we have not found ourselves having to replace stock. The criminals attacked one of the side windows and unfortunately our alarm was not activated on this occasion. Confronted by the shutter, they attempted to jimmy the side guides, then smashed the end plates and top locks. As a final measure of frustration, the perpetrators attacked the shutter curtain with bars and fence post. All of their attempts to enter were unsuccessful and after some 15 - 20 minutes of attacking the shutter, the criminals left empty handed.

We are obviously delighted that our valuable equipment £8,000 plus, has remained in our possession and that the investment we made when purchasing your security shutters has already more than paid for itself.

Should you wish to use our installations as a point of reference when quoting for future contracts, we would be pleased for you to do so.

Yours sincerely
